ELK POINT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Elk Point Scouting Association celebrates movement's 90th birthday

Ninety years of Scouting was celebrated last week in Elk Point with a family banquet and fundraising cake auction, just three days before the birthday of Boy Scouts founder Lord Robert Baden-Powell.

Peter Bednarchuk, District Service Team Leader, was guest speaker at the banquet, and said that 1997 is "really a milestone year" for the movement. "For something that started so small, to grow so big... is an effort akin to putting man on the moon," Bednarchuk said.

In 1907, Baden-Powell, a former British soldier, took 22 boys camping on an island off the coast of England to teach them outdoor living skills. His efforts were recognized by the King, who offered him a charter for a Boy Scouts organization, which rapidly grew and expanded into other countries. Scouting came to Canada in 1909 and to Elk Point in 1928. There are now 25 million youth in 216 countries involved in the various phases of Scouting. Scouting's world movement started 75 years ago and has a "longer, more successful history than the United Nations," Bednarchuk said.

Teamwork has been a part of Scouting ever since the very beginning, he said. "It took teamwork to get there [to the enormous size of the organization] and leadership to stay there... The team has come a long way since its inception," he noted, but the concept has remained the same. "If Baden-Powell could see this today, he'd be impressed with what his idea has become."

Bednarchuk noted that 26 of the first 29 American astronauts had been Boy Scouts, as had large percentages of other successful individuals. "These young people will change the world," he predicted.

Elk Point's celebration began with greetings from Group Committee Chairperson Don Gallant, followed by a color parade of all the members and leaders. Grace was offered by Rev. Jim MacLellan.

Elk Point Lions Club, who holds the Scouting Association's charter, Doug McPherson, who provides the Association with a meeting place, Lawrence Modin, Dave and Alice Yake, Deanna Easthope, Walter Skolarchuk and the Elk Point Review were thanked for their efforts on the Scouts' behalf, as were their many sponsors: Reed's Welding, Pan Canadian, Tarsands, Shamrock Valley Enterprises, Royal Canadian Legion, Canadian Salt,

Chamber supports Interagency Health Committee

Representatives of the Elk Point and District Interagency Health Committee task force visited last week's meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce to give an overview of the makeup and objectives of the planned committee, which is structured to give input to the Community Health Council.

Barb Kaufman told the Chamber that Elk Point is already "a very strong voice on the Community Health Council," but that that group's role is not clear-cut at this time. The Interagency Health Committee is designed to bring together the concerns of a wide group of agencies and present them to the CHC on a regular basis.

Deanna Easthope added that the emphasis of the Committee is on partnership, and that the potential partners who have received the presentation so far have liked the idea. "The CHC has replied to us in the affirmative, the County is very excited by the prospect, and Mental Health was very receptive." While official word had not yet been received from the Town of Elk Point, Council had also showed a keen interest at their February 10 presentation.

Ms Kaufman said Elk Point is "the first community to take this step. The Lakeland Regional Health Authority wants involvement, and we feel a lot of exciting things can happen from it."

The Chamber was in full agreement with being part of the committee, and have tentatively named Victor Stepa as their delegate, although this appointment is yet to be confirmed.

The Chamber's executive is still short of a secretary, and hopes to rectify this before the next meeting on March 5.

County fire protection boosted by donated truck

Residences and industry located in the eastern reaches of the County of St. Paul are safer this week, thanks to a donation which nearly tripled the capacity of the County's Elk Point-based fire-fighting apparatus.

Norcen Energy Resources turned over the keys of a 1989 fire truck to representatives of the County and the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department last week. The truck, valued at $50,000 has an 1800 gallon water capacity, almost double that of the County fire truck which has been housed in Elk Point for some years, and which it will supplement.

County reeve Ray Danyluk thinks this is "a very cooperative direction between the oil industry, the fire department and the municipality involved. This is a unit that can be greatly utilized in the the Elk Point area, and is most important, not only for Norcen but for all county residents. It's a definite asset and benefit."

Norcen's Kevin Casper agreed that "this is something that can benefit the community, and yet meet Norcen's own needs. It's a win-win situation." Mile Meyenberg pointed out that the donation is in keeping with Norcen's motto, to "support the communities where we work." The truck has responded to only two fires in the six years it has been stationed at Norcen, and will see much more use with the County. Meyenberg, who is both a Norcen employee and a member of the fire department, says "there have been a few times when there were two calls at once," and with two County fire trucks, the department would be much better equipped to handle such a situation.

Lyle Frisby thanked Norcen on behalf of the fire department for the very generous donation and said it was "muchly appreciated. It will be used throughout the community."

INDUSTRY, COUNTY AND FIRE DEPARTMENT embarked on a co-operative venture last week when (left to right) Mike Meyenberg and Kevin Casper of Norcen Energy Resources handed over the keys of an additional fire truck to firefighter Lyle Frisby, County representatives Ray Danyluk and Dennis Bergheim.

Treasury Branch, Flanders Farms, Quality Tools, "Baloo" Doug Olstad, Gibsons Petroleum, Toronto Dominion Bank, Superior Propane, Elk Point Lioness, Elk Point Insurance and Realty, Elan, and Elk Point Elks Lodge.

Presentations were made to Scouting leaders Gloria Zarowny, Tim Zarowny, Roger Routhier and Doug Olstad.

Entertainment was provided by all three age groups. The Beavers led everyone in a rousing action song, the Cubs sang a pair of songs, and the Scouts performed a hilarious skit.

Then came the part of the evening that everyone had been waiting for: the judging of fifteen handsome cakes, made and decorated by the boys. Beaver Colin Routhier won first prize, his cake later selling for the top price of $220. Cub Garret Zarowny placed second, while his brother, Scout Mathew Zarowny, was third. Walter Skolarchuk did the auction honors, with the prices ranging from $60 on up. A handsome numbered print donated by Reed's Welding sold for $85, and a gas-fired barbecue unit sold for $90, bringing the total proceeds of the evening to just over $1600.

House payments and home payments

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

It is almost the end of February and like the end of every month, most of us will sit down and calculate into our monthly budget. payments of bills which include our house rent or mortgage payments. In these times, it can be a painful moment. We think, "Oh, there goes half my salary." But if we want a house to live in, one that we call our own, we've got to pay the price.

Then there is another question. A house payment is one thing, because someday the house may be yours after many years, but what about a "home payment"? Let me explain. Just as we must make regular payments in dollars to secure a house, so we must make regular investments in love, patience, consideration, and kindness to make our house a home. We must pay for a house. We must pay for a home. All worthwhile things demand their price. Have you made your regular home payment?

Home payments are made when people who live in a "house" take time to care and do things for each other. For example, a mother who takes time each night to read stories to her children makes a home payment. Another example could be when big brother helped little brother find his lost teddy bear. Big brother made a home payment. Another example could be when the teenage daughter in the home says to her mother: "Mom, let me help you with that!" This teenager has made a home payment. Or what about the time the husband says to his wife: "Thank you for ironing my shirts, Dear!" He has made a home payment. Now that I have given you some examples, I am sure you can think of many more examples that apply to your own family.

When we make regular home payments with our wives and husbands, our sons and daughters, we send a message more powerful than words. The price we have paid cannot be calculated for today only. There will be benefits tomorrow as well.

As you begin or end today, ask yourself — "Am I making my house payment or my home payment?" Remember, each person who lives in a home can make a home payment.

Seniors' Recreation Centre celebrates fifth anniversary

By Phyllis Zarowny
Pioneer Circle

February 3, 1997 saw a group of over 50 members gather to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the opening of the Pioneer Circle Seniors' Recreation Centre.

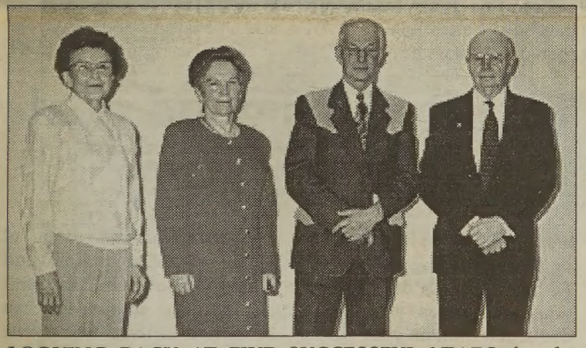
Lillian Palinka opened the ceremonies, commenting on the many Senior activities taking place, such as floor curling, carpet bowling, trump whist, military whist, Wednesday afternoon bingo, shuffleboard, pool and crib. The Centre is kept very busy with rentals as well as being made available to local organizations free of charge in lieu of cash donations, which as a charity we are not allowed to make.

Sid Holthe then delivered a very informative speech on the history leading up to the opening of the Centre. He called attention to all the assistance received from government grants, donations from local businesses and members of our community, and a special thank you was given to Doug McPherson for the building, Jim Chornohus, St. Paul, our contractor, and Len Babyn, Two Hills, our consultant.

John Drobot, former MLA, then took the floor to compliment the Seniors on their undertaking and then recited one of his unique poems.

Irene Miller was called upon to give the benediction and then a delicious luncheon was served.

A lovely afternoon for a worthy event.



LOOKING BACK AT FIVE SUCCESSFUL YEARS for the Seniors' Recreation Centre were (left to right) Irene Miller, Lillian Palinka, John Drobot and Sid Holthe.

Oh, Heartburn!

By Shelley Miller-Hertes
Registered Dietician
Elk Point Health Centre

Heartburn is the most common symptom of gastroesophageal reflux. Other symptoms are belching, excess saliva, regurgitation, and vomiting. Changing your diet and other lifestyle factors can reduce these symptoms.

* Eat small, regular, balanced meals. Avoid having an empty stomach.
* Limit your intake of fat.
* Include protein foods at each meal and snack (for example, lean meat, lowfat cheese, lowfat milk or yogurt).
* Lose weight if you are not at your ideal weight.
* Avoid all foods which cause discomfort. Most often those foods are high-fat foods, alcoholic beverages, coffee, strong tea, chocolate, tomato-based mixtures, and spicy foods.
* Do not lie down for 2-3 hours after eating. Do not eat at night before going to bed.
* Do not smoke.
* Discuss your medications with your doctor or pharmacist. Some drugs may cause heartburn.
* Do not chew gum.
* Avoid tight belts. Wear loose-fitting clothes.
* Get help in managing the stress in your life. Emotional distress can make symptoms worse.
* Sleep with your head raised if heartburn is a problem at night.
* Do not bend over for several hours after eating. Bending over after eating (for example, to tie shoes or when gardening) may cause reflux symptoms.
* If you are unable to tolerate citrus fruit or juice (for example, orange, grapefruit and tomato juices) you may not be getting enough Vitamin C. Discuss the need for vitamin supplements with your dietician or doctor.

These are easy, lifestyle methods of reducing heartburn, making the eating experience more pleasurable for you!

Hubble and Hale-Bopp

Are you familiar with the names Mark Lee, Steven Smith and Gregory Harbough? These men, astronauts who were repairing the Hubble Space Telescope about 500 km above Earth this week, were once young lads... running around their school playground at recess time. Perhaps while studying in Science class in Grade 5 they dreamed of having a job someday that would take them into the 'reaches' of the universe. (There just could be a 'Mark', a 'Steven' or a 'Gregory' sitting in the classroom in our community!)

Using the 50 foot robot arm, designed and built by Canadians, Lee, Smith and Harbough were very successful in mending two large areas of the Hubbles' ripped insulation. The Tuesday, February 18 repair now equips the space telescope to resume its journey through space and expand its vision.

Aboard the bus-sized 'space camera' are also a new set of infrared cameras enabling an even deeper look into space. What will our Creator of space and the universe allow them to see next.. and us to learn? We truly are living in a most exciting age of astronomy.

So here you and I are... solidly on Planet Earth. What can we amateurs see and take pictures of? An example is this accompanying shot of our friend Hale-Bopp still brilliantly seen at 1 1/2 hr. before sunrise in the east.

COMET HALE-BOPP --taken in the eastern sky at 5:45 a.m. February 18, with a zoom lens, 400-speed film, f/4, 20 second exposure, by Lois Ramer.

Someone in our community candidly questioned, "Are there really stars out there?" A million times yes! And they are patiently and faithfully there... hoping we'll look up for a minute or two to 'hear' their hello!

On our front deck early on February 10, while getting set up to 'shoot' Hale-Bopp, I was blessed to see the eastern skies erupting with the Aurora. They were dancing joyfully and brilliantly around the comet, and it very nearly took my breath away, though there was enough strength in my fingers to snap the camera button.

Next month, God willing, the eastern U.S. skies and soil will be my 'home.' Hope to send you a message from there. Happy sky gazing! And a reminder that Hale-Bopp should be his brightest on March 22, at dusk in the northeast.

Comet Hale-Bopp's distance from Earth around March 22 and April 1 will be 1.3 Astronomical Units (one Astronomical Unit is 150 million kilometers) which is far more distant from Planet Earth than Comet Hyakutake was last summer. At the same time, Comet H-B is immense in size... the largest to rendezvous in our solar system since 1577!

Tax Tips

By Norm Gueutal

RRSP still a good deal for most taxpayers

An investment in an RRSP continues to be one of the best tax shelters available to the average taxpayer. Eligible RRSP contributions are directly deducted from income that you report on your income tax return. This means that you save tax at your marginal rate, which in some cases can exceed 50% depending on your income and province of residence. In addition to the initial tax savings when the contributions are deducted, all income earned in the RRSP accumulates tax free until the money is withdrawn.

The amount you can deduct is subject to limits, based on last year's earned income and "pension adjustment" amount, and on deduction room carried forward from prior years. Fortunately, it is no longer necessary for you to keep track of or calculate this limit yourself. Revenue Canada does this for you, and states your RRSP deduction limit on your Notice of Assessment for the previous taxation year. If you do not have your notice, you can find out your limit by calling Revenue Canada's T.I.P.S. automated phone service during tax season, or by contacting your local tax services office.

You have until March 1, 1997, to make a deductible contribution for 1996. Fortunately, any portion of your deduction limit that you do not utilize is carried forward to the following year, enabling you to deduct larger contributions later on.

For example, suppose your deduction limit for 1996 is $4,000, but you can only afford to contribute $1,000. The unused deduction room of $3,000 is carried forward and added to your deduction limit for 1997. The amount that can be carried forward was at one time subject to certain limits, but the 1996 budget rules state that such amounts can now be carried forward indefinitely.

You also have some flexibility with regard to contributions that you make but cannot deduct. Until 1996, you could have up to $8,000 in excess contributions without incurring penalties. From 1996 on, that cushion has been reduced to $2,000. If you have undeducted contributions of more than $2,000, therefore, you should obtain advice to see what action you should take in order to avoid a penalty tax.

Shorthanded Thunder hangs in, close to a win against full-strength "AA" team

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Thunder

Friday night before the game against St. Paul "AA" Eagles the Thunder dressing room looked very familiar, as it has many times this season. Once again with the lack of commitment from some players, two on the injury list and one suspended, there were only seven core players to start the game.

Coach George Bendixen dressed back-up goalie BJ Tucker to make it eight and told the team, "pace yourselves, boys." Dressing Tuck turned into a good move when he opened the scoring on a power play at the half-way mark of the first period, scoring his first goal ever. (Other than, of course, the ones he scored... oh, better not mention them.) The Eagles, with 17 players, answered with three to make it 3-1 after one.

The second period turned very exciting with the Big "M", captain Marty Bendixen, scoring a natural hat trick, and after two it was 5-4 for the Eagles. After tying the game early in the third with a goal by big #9 Loren Kozicky, rugged right-winger Jordan Bassett scored what looked to be the winner. The Eagles, feeling a little embarrassed, realizing that they might well lose, turned it up one notch, scoring two more late goals, the last with only 3 seconds on the clock, to take the 7-6 victory. A good-sized crowd gave the Thunder a well-deserved standing ovation after the game. The two iron men on the defence, Shaun Moroziuk and Neil Kozicky, played the whole game other than when they took penalties to get a rest. And let's not forget the other three guys in the game, Rocky Pankiw and Brad Pankiw, who both assisted on goals, and goaltender Rob Murray who faced 35 shots.

Sunday afternoon, the Thunder took their last bus trip of the season, travelling to Lashburn with ten skaters, coming out on top in this one 7-3. Big #9 Loren Kozicky opened the scoring in the first period with a nice second effort goal. Loren scored two more in the third to give him the hat trick. Singles by Brad Pankiw, Marty Bendixen, Blair Dillon and Neil Kozicky. Defenceman Neil is one of the unsung heros, never wandering too far from home, but does his job week after week.

Atom Elks in Provincials

In other hockey news this week, the Atom Jr. Elks, after defeating Kitscoty, will represent Zone 2 at the Provincial finals March 15 and 16 in Kitscoty. Way to go! And over in the NHL, the Buds defeated the Habs 5-1 Saturday night, as the rivalry continues.

This week, the Thunder will play at home Friday night and Sunday afternoon.

Novice Hurricane hockey news

By Dave Cousins
Elk Point Novice Hurricane

With a regular season consisting of 19 games, the Novice Hurricane won 12 of these contests, tied one and lost 4 with two games remaining.

During the season they attended three tournaments. Playing in the Medley tournament they won two games and lost two games.

Playing in the Bonnyville tournament on February 8 and 9, they played against Bonnyville 1, winning this hard fought game with only 3 seconds left. The next game was against Mallaig. This was also a tough battle, going right to the end with an Elk Point victory bringing them up against the dreaded Glendon team in the "A" final. This game was another tough one in which our boys lost, giving them second on the "A" side which they were still very proud of, as was the coaching staff.

Playing in the Glendon tournament on February 22, a one day affair, the boys lost their first game, again to the Glendon boys, with a hard fought one going down to them by a score of 8 to 6. The next two games were again against Mallaig and Bonnyville, with two more tough fought games with the Hurricane coming out the victors. The boys really played hard for these two wins, giving them first in the "B" event and a big smile on their faces and that of the coaches and parents again.

The Elk Point Novice Hurricane will be holding their own tournament on March 1 and 2 at the A. G. Ross Arena, where they have invited some fairly stiff competition from Glendon, Bonnyville, Kitscoty, Cold Lake, Medley and Lloydminster. This will be a good one to watch, so brave the cold or the warm and come out and watch the future on Saturday and Sunday in Elk Point. Hope to see you there.

LIBERAL LEADER GRANT MITCHELL (left) and local candidate Vital Ouellette visit small business owner Brian Moneta of Pioneer Radio Control, assuring him that the Liberals are committed to seeing small businesses thrive.

Liberal leader Grant Mitchell was in Elk Point Saturday, and joined local candidate Vital Ouellette for some mainstreeting.

The two visited a number of downtown businesses, chatting with the staff and customers and handing out brochures outlining the Liberal party's plans for education, seniors and small business.

Mitchell told a local teacher that the Liberals are very concerned with education and will hire a thousand new teachers to sustain the quality of education offered in Alberta.

Canada Day planning underway

Elk Point's Canada Day Committee is a group that doesn't believe in waiting for the last minute. They met last week and already have the preliminary planning for the July 1 celebration of Canada's 130th birthday underway.

The theme chosen for this year's event reflects another landmark: 1997 is the 90th anniversary of the coming of the first settlers to arrive in the area from the USA.

The committee expects the Canada Day format to be quite similar to that of recent years, with a pancake breakfast, parade, craft tables and stage show on the day itself, and a gospel concert the previous Sunday.

One of the first steps toward a successful event is fundraising. In addition to the letters which will be sent out to potential donors in the near future, the committee has decided to order and sell t-shirts as a fundraiser. The shirts will show both the Canada and Alberta flags, along with the wording, "1907 - 1997 — Elk Point, Alberta," and will be available by early spring, as well as being sold at the Canada Day event itself.

Invitations to dignitaries to take part in the parade will also go out soon, and a parade band and clown entertainment will be booked. Parade categories will remain the same as other years, and once again the kids' bicycle parade will be promoted through the school.

Deanna Easthope is the acting chairperson of this year's committee, while Shiela Nelson is the secretary. Margaret White has volunteered to be in charge of the craft tables once again, and representatives of eight local groups will help with the planning. The next meeting is planned for April 10.

Glimpses into our past: Canada 1947-1957

As the 1950s arrived, the Canadian political world was shifting as the Mackenzie King era was gradually drawing to a close. During this period, the first female Cabinet Minister was sworn in, the Honorable Ellen Fairclough. Canadian athletes and performers were making their mark on the country and the world. Barbara ann Scott became the first Canadian to win an Olympic medal in figure skating and authors like Gabrielle Roy and W. O. Mitchell were writing masterpieces of uniquely Canadian fiction.

As Canadians prospered, there was an increasing recognition that we had a responsibility to look beyond our borders and lend a helping hand to those in need. Canadian delegates had been in San Francisco for the founding of the United Nations in 1946, and this country continued to take its commitments as a good international citizen to heart. The Canadian armed forces played an important role in both the Korean conflict and during the Suez crisis. In 1956, Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was awarded the Nobel Prize for developing the concept of United Nations Peacekeeping.

In 1951, Canada became a signatory of the United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees, which established a basis in international law for determining what constituted a refugee. Canada's commitment to helping people in distress was well demonstrated i the fall of 1956, during one of the most dramatic events of the Cold War, the uprising in Hungary. In November 1956, the Western World watched aghast as Red Army tanks rolled into Budapest and brutally suppressed anti-communist freedom fighters. Canada saw it as its duty to offer these people refuge. This country spent more money and took in more refugees per capita than any other country in the world. Over a four month period, all available aircraft in North America were enlisted in an "air bridge" to freedom. Some 200 flights to Canada were made, bringing 38,000 refugees.

The ten years from 1947 to 1957 saw Canada growing and developing into a strong and respected middle power. A fixture in many international and regional bodies such as the UN and North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Canada gained a world-wide reputation for compassion and commitment to others. Domestically, this period saw the gradual development of many of the social welfare institutions which we have come to accept as an essential part of this country. Post-war Canada enjoyed a prosperity and climate of optimism matched by few other countries in the world.

What's news at the library?

And now for the latest in adult fiction...

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

After devoting the past two weeks to juvenile titles, you might think that all we have are children's books. Think again. Here are the latest arrivals in adult fiction:

It's a race against time as a plane carrying a device that can destroy every computer chip on the continent becomes the target of scientists, governments and rogue military officers in Medusa's Child by John J. Nance.

A ferocious plasma storm wreaks havoc on the station and endangers the lives of some of its crew in The Tempest by Susan Wright from Star Trek: Deep Space Nine.

A country music star returns home to care for her widowed mother and finds a new life that won't work with her life in Nashville in Small Town Girl by La Vyrle Spencer.

All the signs indicate that a deadly threat is once again approaching Pern, only one Lord Holder refuses to believe it in Dragonseye by Anne McCaffrey, a Dragonriders of Pern novel.

When crime reporter Joe Carpenter learns that there may have been a survivor of the plane crash that took the lives of his wife and daughters, he embarks on a deadly quest to find the truth in Sole Survivor by Dean Koontz. Mrs. Pollifax gets loaned out to a retired CIA friend and finds herself in the midst of trouble in the Middle East in Mrs. Pollifax, Innocent Tourist, by Dorothy Gilman.

Hollywood meets the Canadian west in Guy Vanderhaeghe's The Englishman's Boy, winner of the Governor General's Award for fiction.

Some of fiction's classic detectives are featured in First Cases: First Appearances of Classic Private Eyes.

A near-death experience leads Toy Johnson to believe she may be a living angel but she finds herself facing trial for murder in California Angel by Nancy Taylor Rosenberg.

Patton's Spaceship by John Barnes pits the Crux Ops team, a Pittsburgh private eye, and a ten-year-old time traveller against an alien force seeking to enslave the Universe.

And how about some non-fiction:

Danny Goodman's Windows 95 Handbook provides you with an exhaustive look at the Windows 95 operating system in a manner that is easy-to-follow.

True Love: Stories Told to and by Robert Fulghum is a collection of real stories that reflect the many facets of love.

Heart Smart Chinese Cooking by Stephen Wong gives you Chinese recipes that are low in fat and sodium.

In-Line Skating Basics by Cam Millar gives you an introductory lesson in this hot activity that is part sport, part exercise, part recreation and all fun.

LRHA conducting needs assessment

Lakeland Regional Health Authority is conducting a region-wide health needs assessment to be completed by the spring of 1997. The health needs assessment will provide a picture of the health status and unmet health needs of residents of the Lakeland region. Information is being gathered about the health of Lakeland's population, the factors that influence their health, their utilization of health programs and services, and unmet needs identified by communities within the Lakeland region.

Information will be gathered from a number of sources including Alberta Health, Vital Statistics, Statistics Canada, and Health Canada. Community members will be asked to provide information about their unmet needs through a series of workshops scheduled to begin in February. Afternoon and evening workshops will be held in 17 communities. House-bound residents, or those in facilities, may request in-home interviews. Board Chairman Dareld Cholak said that "the Board of Governors is eager to hear the opinions and ideas of the Region's residents."

Elk Point's workshops are slated for March 12, 1997, from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:30 p.m.

The workshop topic is "What are the important issues you believe the Health Authority will have to address in order to provide health care in your community?" The workshop format will encourage participants to share their views. Workshops will be held in Smoky Lake, St. Paul, Myrnam, Vilna, Lac La Biche, Bonnyville, Cold Lake, Elk Point, Glendon, Lamont, Two Hills, Vegreville, Mundare, Willingdon, Fort Saskatchewan, Redwater and Radway. Workshop dates and locations will be advertised throughout the region.

"We hope that as many people as possible will attend these community workshops," said Cholak. "This will provide a forum for residents to be a part of the Regional Health Authority's decision making process."

NEARTA meets in St.Paul

On Tuesday, February 18, 31 members of the Northeastern Alberta Retired Teachers' Association met at the Cultural Centre, St. Paul. President Donna Chamberland reported on the recent ARTA meeting. The possibility of a one day outing, by bus, in June, in conjunction with another branch, was discussed. NEARTA members are in favor of inviting newly-retired teachers to be our guests at our September meeting. Margaret Michaud will try to arrange a bus trip to the Rosebud Theatre in May. A delicious catered lunch was enjoyed after the business meeting. Later many of us had fun with a Horse Racing game organized by Jeannette Letourneau. The June meeting of NEARTA will probably be held in Glendon.
